SOME REACTIONS TO OUR REPORT:

“Wonderful!”

– Robert C. Glennon, former Executive Director, NYS Adirondack Park Agency

*“I just returned to find The Adirondack Park at a Crossroads in my mailbox. Just one word summarizes my feelings about it ... terrific!”*

– George D. Davis, former Planning Director, NYS Adirondack Park Agency, and former Executive Director, Commission on the Adirondacks in the Twenty-First Century

“Adirondack Wild’s report thoughtfully beckons New York government back to its constitutional duty to protect fully the wilderness of the Adirondacks. Its recommendations address environmentally sustainable development of private lands while restoring safeguards for wild, public lands. It charts pathways of reform that deserve implementation by New York’s Legislature and Governor. Everyone who debates the future of the Forest Preserve needs to reflect upon this report”

– Nicholas A. Robinson, Pace Law School, and former Counsel, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation

“Without a diligent commitment to resource planning and protection, the Park will deteriorate. New York State once led the nation in regional land-use planning for our six-million-acre Adirondack Park. The question before us today is how can we get back to that leadership position? That is the purpose of this report.”

– Thomas L. Cobb, former Park Manager, NYS Minnewaska State Park Preserve, and former staff member, Commission on the Adirondacks in the Twenty-First Century

“The Adirondack Wild report provides a jumping-off point for further discussion on how to maintain the proper balance between the environmental and economic needs of the park. And that ... is what will help ensure the Adirondack Park survives and thrives in the future.”

– Editorial, The Sunday Gazette of Schenectady
